About ACM International Collegiate Programming Contest:

The ACM International Collegiate Programming Contest (ACM ICPC) is the largest programming contest being organized all over the world every year. The ACM ICPC is an activity of the ACM that provides college students with an opportunity to demonstrate and sharpen their problem-solving and computing skills. The contest is considered as the "Olympiad of Computer Programming". For more information about ACM ICPC, I request you to visit <https://icpc.baylor.edu>

About ACM ICPC Asia Region Kolkata Kanpur Site-2017: (www.icpckolkata.in)

It is a two-tier contest. The world is divided into six regions and Asia is a region. In Asia, there are twenty-five host sites and Kolkata-Kanpur is one of them.

To reduce travel pains during the foggy season of December, this year the Kolkata-Kanpur Site is hosted parallelly in Kolkata as well as Kanpur (multi-site). The teams may choose either Kolkata or Kanpur for the onsite round. The Kolkata-Kanpur Site contest is organized by National Institute of Technical Teachers' Training and Research, Kolkata. The contest in Kolkata is hosted by JIS Group, Kolkata whereas University Institute of Engineering and Technology, CSJM University, Kanpur is the host Institute for Kanpur.

This year Kolkata-Kanpur Site Contest will be held on 23 & 24 December 2017. It is expected that about 700 teams from all over India, and from other countries in South and Central Asia, will participate at this site. The teams will be selected through a preliminary online (internet) contest to be held on 05 November 2017. Only those teams that qualify the preliminary online contest shall be eligible to participate in the Kolkata-Kanpur Site Contest. The last date of registration is ~~25 October 2017~~ 29

October 2017. The winner of Kolkata-Kanpur site will be eligible to participate in the world finals to be held in May 2018 at Beijing, China.

Who can Participate:

The ACM-ICPC is a team-based, programming competition. A team consists of at most 3 contestants (students) and a coach from the same institution. The coach can mentor multiple teams. Generally, each team gets 6 to 8 problems to be solved within 5 hours. A team can submit the programs in C, C++, Python or in JAVA. A team which can solve maximum number of problems with minimum penalty points is declared as the winner.

How to Register and Participate in Kolkata-Kanpur Site:

The teams for Kolkata-Kanpur Site will be selected through a preliminary online (internet) contest to be held on November 05, 2017. Based on the performance in this contest, the top performing teams from an institute will get chance to participate in the Kolkata-Kanpur Onsite Round.

There will be a single online contest for all the five sites of India i.e. ACM ICPC Asia Region i.e. Amritapuri/ Chennai/ Gwalior/Kharagpur and Kolkata-Kanpur Sites 2017. A separate result for each site will be prepared based on the performance of teams (registered for that site) in online contest. All the teams willing to participate in any of these sites will have to register individually for each site.

Registration is a two steps process:

Step 1: Register your team on the ACM ICPC Contest's International Site <https://icpc.baylor.edu> and choose Asia Kolkata-Kanpur Preliminary Online 2017 under "Asia West Continent". This must be done by 29 October 2017. For this purpose, a Coach should initiate the registration process by registering himself and his team Contestants (by providing their names and email id's) in the ICPC website. After this each contestant will get an email from the ICPC site to complete their profile, which should be completed by each contestant individually.

Step 2: Send the Demand Draft along with a printout of duly signed form (which can be downloaded from our website www.icpckolkata.in) to the Contest Coordinator and it should reach to us on or before 29 October 2017.

Registration Fee:

Teams from India: Rs. 3,500/- Make a demand draft of Rs. 3,500/- drawn in favor of "ACM Kanpur" payable at Kanpur, India. Do not forget to write the Team Name and Address for Correspondence on the backside of the Draft. However, in case a team from India cannot qualify the preliminary online contest, the amount of Rs. 2750/- will be returned soon after the contest.

Teams from Other Countries: US$ 250/-. Make ONE demand draft of US$ 250/- drawn in favor of "ACM Kanpur" payable at Kanpur, India.
